From Computer Science for Students doing a CS Minor:

I wanted to share for advisors who have students interested in pursuing the Computer Science minor or generally just taking Computer Science Courses that our Course Access Policy states we have peak and off-peak semesters for our six core Computer Science courses. Students looking to pursue the Computer Science minor or nonmajor students looking to take Computer Science courses will need to plan to take courses in off-peak terms. During off-peak terms, students will be able to register the Friday before classes begin (August 16), space permitting. This is also the same date that the waitlist ends, so it doesn't help for the student to request the course now as their request will be denied. They will need to wait and look to register on Friday, August 16, space permitting.
